

TEAM 8

Annika van Boven

Ni Putu Mas Swandewi

Raden Roro Laras Rasya Salsabila

Kennedy Putra Handoko

Food waste has been a problem that went unnoticed by the people in Indonesia. Meanwhile, the amount of food waste increases rapidly each year. The hospitality sector is one of the largest food waste producers, which brought us to the Sheraton Grand Hotel. Our most significant stakeholders are the General Manager and the Executive Chef of the Sheraton Grand Hotel.

To fight this problem, we did some research to solve it. We observed and interviewed the General Manager, Executive Chef, and other staff of Sheraton Grand Hotel to further learn about what is going on in the property. We found that the problems are caused by lack of education with food waste management in the hotel, as well as guests who are not willing to change their ways. The Executive Chef mentioned that they lacked manpower to categorize the waste.

YOUR VIDEO

[Click here
to watch it!](#)

As said before, the cause of food waste mostly comes from the lack of education on food waste. The hotel didn't categorize their waste so all waste went to the same landfill. We think we can work with using the food waste that is not edible to humans for something more beneficial.

